Chocolate 101

Use the highest-quality chocolate and cocoa you can buy. Good chocolate has a glossy sheen and a smooth taste. Here's a quick primer on different varieties and their uses:

Unsweetened: Made with about 50 percent cocoa butter, this is pure, unadulterated chocolate. Use it in cooking and baking, but don't bother eating it straight. Bittersweet: Made by adding cocoa butter, sugar, and vanilla to chocolate liquor, bittersweet chocolate has a dark, rich taste. Use it in baking. Semisweet: This variety is made the same way as bittersweet, but with more sugar. A classic for chocolate chip cookies. Milk chocolate: Sweet and creamy, this chocolate is made with milk solids, which give it its light color. For some people, milk chocolate is a clear winner over dark. White chocolate: Because it's made with cocoa butter and not chocolate liquor, white chocolate isn't strictly chocolate. Use it in baking, but don't expect a chocolatey taste--it's sweet and mild.

A Summer of Stories!

Summer 2011 has been amazing! I am so impressed with our students and the way they have jumped in the middle of everything. They served tirelessly in so many areas of ministry including VBS, Medina Mission, Kids Eat, Extreme Teens, Brazil Mission and in leadership areas of Camp Victory. Obviously, our interns, Travis and Jennifer have been amazing! I can't imagine how they could have done better.

I especially want to thank all of our adults who have given so much to this ministry. Your time and energy have blessed our students beyond measure. None of the “big” events would have been possible without you. But beyond the events, you will never know what it means for you to take even a few minutes and speak words of blessing to our students. Even if you were not on one of the trips, thank you for taking the time to ask questions about the summer and for being interested in this ministry.

The Story Continues...

Be watching for a whole calendar of events for the fall. God is not through with us. His story will continue to unfold in crazy ways!
