

The Biblical Institute of Central America (BICA) is a preacher training school supported by Johnson Street church of Christ. The students study the Bible and evangelism for 2 years. A large portion of their training is one-on-one Bible studies and evangelism campaigns. THOUSANDS are baptized each year from the hard work of these Bible students. "Praise God!" The students are recommended by local churches of Christ to attend the preacher training school. Each year there are more students than the school can teach. The school is selective about those who attend. Most classes are taught by preachers from the local region. We get reports from preachers in Guatemala and Honduras praising what an impact the school has on the church and community.

The mission committee would like to thank you for your prayers and financial support for our mission work in Central America. If you have any questions; please ask.
